The new champ speaks out

by A.M. Tipps

Leo Randolph glows. He glows with confidence and enthusiasm and competence. Leo, the 1976 Olympic gold medalist is the new World Champion Jr. Flyweight boxer and is loving it. A smile appears on his wide mouth everytime he says the words "World Champion," as if he really enjoyed saying them but still didn't quite believe it. In an exclusive Tacoma Facts interview, the champ was an articulate and attractive interviewee.

Leo has definite opinions on a variety of subjects ranging from the Olympic boycott to junk food. He supports the former because he supports his president. Leo is, however; darned glad that his turn was four years ago and he is not one of the athletes being asked to forego the Olympics. He

Freeholders schedule charter meetings

The work of the Pierce County Board of Freeholders has reached a critical stage. After months of listening to the testimony of public officials, civic groups, and concerned citizens, the Freeholders have prepared a first draft of the proposed "Home Rule" charter for Pierce County. Now the Freeholders need your help, interest, and response if this charter is to be a document the people of Pierce County can support at the polls in November. They must know how YOU feel about this first draft so that necessary changes may be made.

Highlights of the Charter include separation of administrative and legislative powers; a seven member council, elected by districts; an elected County Executive; appointment of the Coroner, sheriff, and clerk; partisan elections; and a mandatory personnel system based on merit. Other provisions in the charter address budgeting, purchasing procedures, affirmative action, nondiscrimination, growth management, and the transition period between the adoption of the charter and the time the new government begins operation.

Public hearings are scheduled throughout the County during the months of May and June. For more information, please contact their office at 593-4900.

The money's still funny at KYAC

by A.M. Tipps

How does it happen that KYAC has such a stormy financial history? Amid speculation and charges of mismanagement and misappropriation of funds (including "dummy" ownership) Frank Dudley, a member of the family management team, sought to put the record straight about KYAC's finances.

"Our problems in this area are a result of a combination of ingredients including chronically delinquent accounts receivable, lukewarm support from local advertisers and the state of the music industry in the Northwest. We've also put an enormous amount of cash into operating improvements designed to provide better service to our listeners."

According to Dudley, both large and small advertisers, national and local are slow in paying. That causes the station's operating debts to mount during a time when banks are very reluctant to finance any but the most risk free enterprises. The station is for sale with first dibs on aquisition going to an Oakland, Ca. firm. Final sale has been held up by the current lopsided balance sheet.

Frank Dudley believes that his new cash-in-advance policy for accepting advertisements will help alleviate the sluggish cash flow pattern. (This may be the reason that KYAC is not advertising or promoting the May 25th Kool and the Gang concert in Seattle. As a result of this blackout, according to Jon Donovan of Polygram Records--the groups recording label, the show is experiencing slow advanced ticket sales and may have to be cancelled. Ed. Note)

Dudley denies having any differences with record company executives and promotion people because of KYAC's current programming mix(or lack of same).

He does state however that the live music market is very slow in the Northwest for reasons beyond his control. Ticket prices in the Northwest are invariably higher than elsewhere because of the added expense in bringing groups and entertainers so far from their home bases (New York, L.A., Chicago, Nashville).

But according to Frank Dudley, KYAC is the only game in town when it comes to airplay and promotion of a certain product. He does believe that disco has reached its peak in Seattle and this may contribute to a resurgence of local product.

It would appear that KYAC at least at this time will remain on the air. Neither Don Dudley, CEO of Dudley Communications, nor members of the Ministers Alliance were available for comment at press time. It would seem though; that once again the battered radio station has come through the worst of this crisis. The word we have is that none of the former employees (members of the walk-out) plan to return to KYAC. Currently station managers are relying on, among others, the talents of KTOY students Calvin Alexander, Jan Bradley, Ed Jackson, and Ray Harlow to fill in some of the gaps. They are conscientious young people, eager for the hard to acquire on-the-job- training available as a result of this crisis. Whether they will fare any better than their predecessors, remains to be seen.

Outside... Looking In

The Department of Insignificance:

Mt. St. Helens blew her top--whenever there is a natural disaster it makes you think about how insignificant man really is--I have no fear of the "bomb" or nuclear explosions because I can't put it into perspective. I have seen pictures of Hiroshima but that's over in Japan--I've seen films of bombing raids during WWII--nothing man made can compare with the force of God. Scientists by the score were up on or around that mountain since it began erupting, all the latest equipment available to man was at their disposal, yet they couldn't predict when it would happen. When it did, man was helpless--only God knows when or where.

The members of St. John Baptist Church were attending a convention in Pasco, they attended church all day Sunday. At 5:30 they attempted to leave--the roads were closed--they finally were routed thru Portland, Oregon.

They proceeded up Interstate 5 to be stopped at Kelso Washington where they spent the night at the Thunderbird. Lorraine Bailey stated that they could see the mountain lit up like fire. We are glad our citizens were guided home safely Monday morning. Members of St. John who went to Pasco were: Reverend and Mrs. J.A. Boles, Ida and James Rogers, Lana Walker, Eric Boles, Mother Ruby Irons, Mother Carrie Worthey, Mother Ella Quins, Mother Ruby Booker, Estelle Cowell, Peggie Hutchins, Carolyn Gentry-our management aide(MDC), Lorraine Bailey-education coordinator (MDC), Kim Little, Sam and Sharon May, Tammy May, Joyce Roshine Rogers, Johnny Hammond, James Rogers, Pat Wade, Sherry Alexander, Algia Williams, Roy Pete, Gloria James, Mr. Charles Aid (St. John bus driver), Gwen McGee, Jimmy James Rogers, Gwen Terry-choir director, Jeff Terry, Gilbert (MDC property manager) Evans, Curly Evans, Tina Monrow, Beverly Jones, Debbie Pegee, Edna Dunn and Jean Goff. They wanted to thank Brother Houston, who called to pay for their food while they were in Kelso.

Man is not the most powerful force in the Universe--that mountain made the presidential elections and other front page stories unimportant.

The city of Tacoma is recruiting firefighters. There will be orientation sessions for women and minorities to acquaint them with the duties, work related benefits and information on testing and qualifications. They will be held at Firefighter Headquarters May 22nd and 29th, June 5th and 12th at 90 Fawcett St. South at 6:00 p.m. For more information call the Fire Department at 593-4333 or City Personnel at 593-4250 or Women's Rights division 593-4334.

I received, as you all must have, Representative Salatino's report on energy. A brief recap--reduced utility rates were granted for low income senior citizens, deferred utility hook-up charges were approved for low income persons. Energy conservation tip--wash clothes in warm or cold water. Don't heat unused rooms. Keep fire damper closed when not in use--an open damper will let 80% of hot or cold air out the chimney.

Use household fans sparingly. Make sure pilot lights are burning efficiently.

Goldie Taylor, hope you get well soon--hurry home.

All for now; see you next week. 10-4

The Dance Theater of Harlem will be appearing in Seattle at the Opera House, June 4th through 7th. Afro Center has been able to secure 106 seats (reduced rate) for the family night performance. This is for the whole performance. I am encouraging low income people to purchase these tickets. They are good seats spread throughout the Opera House. These reduced rates are $3.00 and $4.00 for the $8.00 and $9.00 tickets. One night only, June 4th at these rates--call the Afro Center at 572-5557 for reservations. Tickets must be picked up before May 27th FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED--this has been underwritten by the King County Arts Commission and numerous civic groups and local businesses of King County.

As written by AP President Carter pledged to never abandon the young, the old, or the needy even in times of budget austerity, this was as he inaugurated the new department of Health and Human Services. We will see!!!

Food Facts

The upcoming Memorial Day weekend is usually time for the first big bar-b-que of the season. While we won't venture to supply a recipe' for the sauce of the century we do present for your table two dishes that are great accessories to the grilled piece de' resistance.

The green bean salad is for anchovy afficianados of course and can be made ahead. However, the anchovy flavor is present but not pronounced and will be enjoyed by everyone except the most dedicated anchovy haters.

Old fashioned oatmeal cookies make a good accompaniment or alternative to homemade ice cream.

Remember, exercise caution when starting and tending cook-out fires and keep the little ones at a safe distance.

GREEN BEAN SALAD

1 (2-ounce) can anchovy fillets, drained and chopped
1 cup mayonaise
1 cup sour cream
1/8 cup tarragon vinegar
3 green onions, finely chopped
Salt, pepper
4 (16-ounce) cans whole green beans, preferably
vertical pack beans
Sieved hard-cooked egg yolks
Chopped hard-cooked egg whites
Cherry tomatoes

Mix together anchovies, mayonaise, sour cream, vinegar and green onions. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Drain green beans well. Toss with dressing and let stand, covered, in refrigerator at least 4 hours. Serve garnished with egg yolks and whites and cherry tomatoes. Makes about 10 servings.

OLD-FASHIONED OATMEAL COOKIES

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup shortening, softened
½ cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar, packed
2 eggs
¼ cup milk
3 cups oats
1 cup raisins

Sift together flour, salt, soda, cinnamon and nutmeg into bowl. Add shortening, granulated sugar, brown sugar, eggs and milk and beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Stir in oats and raisins. Chill overnight. Roll out on heavily floured surface to ¼-inch thickness and cut with a floured 4-inch round cookie cutter. Place on lightly greased baking sheets. Sprinkle with granulated sugar, if desired. Bake at 375 degrees 12 to 15 minutes. Remove from baking sheets immediately. Makes 16 cookies.

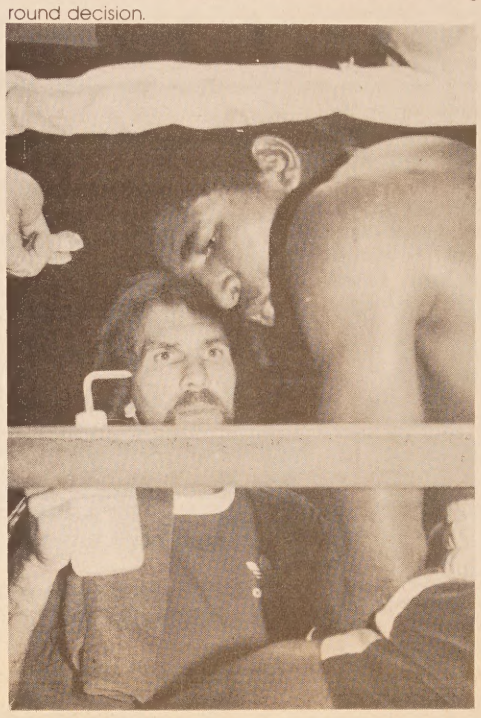
SPORTS
The Champ

Leo, Joe & Doris Clough just before Feb. '80 bout against Baby Kid Chocolate. Leo won a 10 round decision.



"It takes one to know one." Rocky Marciano guides 9 year old Leo Randolph's hands in this photo with Joe Clough and the Tacoma Boys Club Team of 1969.

Between rounds with Joe and Leo

feels that once again the little people (the athletes) are being hurt by the intrusion of politics into what he feels is a wholly apolitical experience.

As for junk food, Leo says he is "a junk food junkie" with a strong bias toward twinkies. Except of course during training, when his diet improves considerably with special mega doses of vitamins to help things along.

Leo plans to marry his hometown sweetheart, Lee Dora Truscott next month. While he expects to be on the road much of the time, he and his bride will continue to make Tacoma their home base. The Spanish Hills resident says "my family is very important to me. My roots go deep in Tacoma and its a good place to raise a family."

He also plans to continue his association with the Downtown Tacoma Boys Club. "They provided me with support, guidance and a coach--Joe Clough." The Church of Christ (14th & M), where Leo worships when at home in Tacoma, is also very important to him. "I'm a very religious person and if that's unusual in a man my age, well that's too bad, because the church and my religion are a part of me."

Leroy Harris, owner of a K street Cafe', refereed Leo's first fight at the Boys Club. Leo was 9 years old. "He had it then. I knew if he stuck to it, he'd take it all and be the champ one day. We watched Leo grow up and each year he gets better."

Leo did, however; take a two year hiatus from boxing and finished high school. "I feel refreshed, I like what I'm doing and its because I took a couple of years off. I don't feel burned out like some young figters."

As for continuing his education, Leo wants to go to a vocational school in the area as a prelude to entering the trucking industry. "Its something that appeals to me now. I'd like to own my own company oneday."

Leo Randolph is the type of hometown hero everyone wishes they grew up with. He is a bright, concerned young man who also happens to be a world champion.

Congratulations Leo and congratulations to Tacoma! For Leo Randolph you were a good place to grow up.
